

Who Built This House

Carol Denney

who built this house of wood and stone whose was the blood whose was the bone whose was the sweat that brought to bear this house so fine that's standing here this house so fine that's stand - ing here

Chorus
 who built this house who built this house who carved the stone who built this house no hand a-lone who built this house you're living in who built this house who built this house no hand a-lone who built this house of wood and stone whose was the blood whose was the bone whose was the sweat that brought to bear this house so fine that's standing here

 who built this house

CHORUS:
 who built this house who carved this stone
 who built this house no hand alone who built this house you're living in
 who built this house

who built this house of wood so fine from forests far away from mine who mined the silver and the gold whose was the back that bore this load who built this house
 (chorus)

who built this house upon this land where all these well-dressed people stand who built this house who labored long where does this wealth in truth belong
 who built this house
 (chorus)